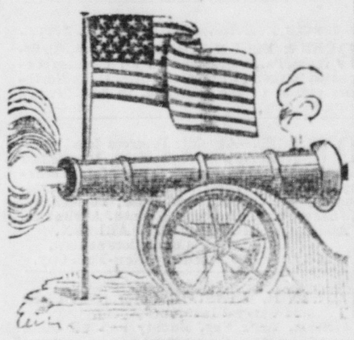
CENTRE COUNTY ELECTION



JOHN MORAN AND MAJ. JOHN H. MORRISON PLAYED OUT. THEIR DOOM SEALED.

GLORIOUS VICTORY IN THE STATE.

Peter G. Meek in his Watchman of Friday last, brought out his Bantum, and exclaims "All hail then old Centre! Nobly has she done her duty! No niggerism in her politics—no negro worshippers in her offices, no new departures for the Democracy, Let her people rejoice."

This is cool impudence after begging for the negro vote and after giving his Hall to the niggers free of charge for the last six months, or ever since he owned a brick house with a hall in it. He made this all by his stealings in the Legislature. By sundry little stealings like, for instance the Welsh and Allen drafts, amounting to $1,400 for the purpose of incorporating "Big Sandy Run," for making us pay taxes on the air we breathe and the water that God Almighty gave us, for the free use of us all—for all his creatures, for man, horse and mule.

We charged all these things upon Peter G. Meek before the election. He never denied them. Not a single charge that we ever made against him, did he deny. Why? Because his conscience told him they were all true.

Why was he not defeated? Simply because the people—the masses of Centre county did not understand his rascality, and because they did not want, Democrats as they are, the Legislature and the State ticket to be lost. They wanted to rebuke Meek; but they did not want him defeated. They thought they were honest; but they were not. They had not the courage to follow the dictates of conscience. A few of them had, hence the fact, that his majority is greatly reduced. All praise to these consciencious Democrats.

They did not like a forger. They did not like a man, who professed to be opposed to monopolies, and then voted for and urged through the Legislature all the monopoly bills which have been passed for Centre county for the last four years.

The farmers did not see it, or they would not have voted for him. We do not blame them. We have no fault to find. The people must rule, and a majority of them has done so in Centre county.

But what do you mean? Are all the people fools in the State? The State has gone over 19,000 for the Republican party. Do the people in Pennsvalley and in Centre county think that they know more than the majority of the people in the State? Do you think you know more than the Democrats of Cambria county, who elected a Republican member to the Assembly by over four hundred majority? Stop and think.

We did not intend to write an article. But what we want to say, is we came pretty nearly defeating Meek. He should have been defeated. Before the election Meek claimed from 1000 to 1400 majority. He had in 1870. Seven hundred and fourteen of a majority and told the faithful, this time, that an increase of two votes on one hundred would give the ticket from 1200 to 1400 majority in old Centre, and proclaimed as a fixed fact that the Democratic State ticket was good for 1,000 majority in the county of Centre.

The election took place, and "Oh! what a fall was there my countrymen." The Democratic State ticket has not five hundred majority in the county, and Meek's 714 majority in 1870, was cut down to 386 in 1871.

That kind of popularity in old Centre, is a bad recommendation for Meek's Speakership of the House of Representatives. He feels it. He is rebuked. He deserved it, and he knows it.

As an excuse for his rebuke by members of his own party he says, "The luke-warm support the ticket received from would be leading Democrats because of their personal dislike of some of the candidates" is the cause of the "decreased majority."

Put that in your pipes ye would be leading Democrats of Centre county! His successor, self-announced, per contract, had better look out. Meek is mad.—And when he is mad and cracks the party lash over your heads ye must obey. He lashes you in. You dared not, you dare not now disobey his mandate. Shame on your manhood—your humanity. We ask the question, are you freemen? You answer yes! Then why were you afraid? Why are you afraid to speak your sentiments? You have not done it. You are not freemen. Meek is your master. Aye, more he is your King. King and lord of the lash of Centre county. He makes the Democratic party and a few purchasable Republicans jump at his command and whenever he choses to crack his whip. He (like all the Meek's) would have made a good slave driver in the South.

In proof of what we assert, Meek advises his Sancho Panzo "Chairman of the Democratic Committee to see to it, "that the violators of the law are properly punished." He forgets that his chairman is an Embezzler of the public monies, a defaulting tax-collector, a hypocrite and a liar, and an unworthy member of the Y. M. C. A., as we have proven him to be.

And Meek himself, will remember, on sober second thought, that forging names to political letters and certificates, his peculations and subsidies in the Legislature were too much for the political stomachs of his would be leading Democrats to swallow. All these facts taken together, or, as we might say, as a Dr. of Laws, an L. L. D., the argument cumulative, must convince Meek, that if there had been no state ticket, he would have been defeated by the most intelligent voters of his party. Your vote, P. G. Meek, has been cut down nearly one half. You are played out. Beaten by the best and the leading men in your party. The men of brains. What are you going to do about it? We advise you to borrow Brainerds Rooster.

The R. B. Petriken and P. G. Meek, Senatorial scheme is over. The dog is dead. It presents an aspect worse than the Tyrone Herald's Rooster. The whole scheme is discovered and is now "over the river to Charley," with you, P. G. Meek in your Senatorial District. You made it to suit yourself and Petriken and you, dare not deny it. Where is Bill Wallace and the speakership of the Senate? Poor, Wallace. Poor Meek. Ah! Meek! Meek!! Meek!!! Alas ambition! Alas the speakership of the Assembly!! Farewell that $100,000. The Tammany—Wallace—Meek—Joseph's Ring is played out in Harrisburg this winter. No more Brick houses with halls in them, given free, to negro dancers. No more Big Sandy speculations or peculations. No more fifty cents per thousand feet on all the the lumber used by the farmers, mechanics and laboring-men of Centre county.

"The mills of the gods grind slowly
But they grind exceeding sure."

There is another significant fact in the result of the election in this county which may have some effect on the Court House Ring—the county custodians of the peoples money. It is this. The Democratic Commissioner, a clever man, has only 269 majority over Andrew Jackson Swartz, our noble candidate, and their Treasurer Jas. F. Weaver, beats Col. Geo. A. Bayard, only 313, both of these Democratic candidates running over one hundred votes below their state ticket.

The tax-paying Democrats did this, to their credit, be it said, and is a step in the right direction. It shows the influence of honest argument. It proclaims to the thieves and sychophants of the Ring, beware! It does more.

It says to the present county commissioners, you must heed the voice of the people and the REPUBLICAN and compel D. F. Fortney, and the other defaulting tax collectors to pay up their defalcation, clear the county of debt, and reduce the SIX MILL TAX.

The State has gone for Dr. Stanton by 19,276 and for Col R. B. Beath 22,000. We regain the Senate and have a majority in the Legislature of 27 on joint ballot.

Glory enough for one day.

"John Browns body lies mouldring in the grave
But his soul goes marching on.
CHORUS.—Glory! Glory!! &c,

WE advise the Democracy to ground arms at once and disband as an arganized body. Their efforts to regain political power is a vain struggle against fate. They have fulfilled their destiny—their race is run—their doom is sealed. The record of Tuesday is the last leaf of their history as an active political party in Pennsylvania, and we think in the Union. As Democrats, standing upon an effete platform, and clinging to decrepid ideas, they can no longer even hope for success. Their first step towards regaining lost power must be dissolution. They must cast off a name which has become odious fram abuse of it, and assume a new one; they must discard all their former cherished idiosyncrasies, and adopt sound principles and modernized ideas, fully up to the political philosophy and Christian spirit of the age. When all this is done—when perfect renovation has been affected—their sun of power may again arise. But until then they cannot emerge from the hopeless night, the Egyptian darkness that envelopes them.—Telegraph.

THE Republicans of Lock Haven, have gained a glorious victory.

GEN. GRANT ON THE TARIFF.

"I hope the time will soon come when the wants of the whole country will be supplied by the products of home industry."—Gen. Grant's Pittsburg speech.

An administration with a policy which this sentiment accurately reflects will not appeal to the people in vain for support. It contains the entire anti-free-trade and protective tariff argument, and will find a permanent lodgment in the hearts of all who properly value our "home industries." We accept these words as of special import. They are broad enough for a policy, and the policy which they reflect would leave nothing for our "home industries" to desire. It affords us sincere satisfaction to draw the attention of the country to these significant words of the President, uttered while he is presumed to be arranging in his own mind the material for his next communication to Congress. Gen. Grant was not more happy in the choice of words in which to clothe the sentiment than in the place to give it utterance.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

A Dispatch in the Pittsburg Commercial of yesterday, declares that TEXAS has gone heavily Republican. Take down your Rooster Meek!

"THE Editor of the Republican who "has been harping about 'defaulting "collectors,' was refused a vote on Tues-"day last, because he had not paid his "own taxes."—Watchman.

The object of the above is to make the impression that the Editor of the REPUBLICAN did not vote, or could not vote at Tuesday's election.

When Meek penned this he knew he lied, just as a forger and villain would lie. He knew that we voted the whole Republican ticket.

He also knew that we were instrumental in cutting down his majority of 714 in 1870 to 368 in 1871. He likewise knew that he would have been defeated had it not been that his party entertained a fear of losing their State ticket.

Our vote was objected to at the bidding of Meek and his political buchanniers, by that political suppliant for office, Major John H. Morrison, who is Meek's Clerk of the Orphan's Court—who would sooner die than work. A man who is known for his duplicity, his secret prying into the business of his neighbors and for his cringing servility.

He had to object to our vote. He was Meek's dog. He had to bark when Meek hissed. Did not Meek have the Register, Recorder and Clerk of the Orphan's Court offices seperated and divided by an Act of Assembly, to accommodate Morrison? This should never have been done, as everybody knows that the fees of both offices as at present constituted, would not more than compensate one honest man.

Grenoble should have had both offices as they were; and before they were seperated to billet Morrison into one of them. But there is a good time coming, boys.

For the REPUBLICAN.

POTTER TWP., Oct. 13th, 1871.

COL. W. W. BROWN:—On election day (the 10th inst.,) there were mixed tickets placed on the table provided for all tickets at the election house of our twp. to be voted for by those who approved of the candidates thereon. After some of these had been voted, the Democratic Cooly of the Court House Ring, who resides here, spied them, and then secretly got one of his tools to abstract them off the table and destroy them, thus preventing the independent voter of his choice. Is there not a law to punish such scamps for an act of this kind?—Will you please inform us if there is such a law? If there is, we will put it in force so far as this township is concerned, and expose the means resorted to by the Democrats to secure majorities.

Yours, &c.,
A TAX-PAYER.

In answer to the above honest inquiry, we here state that there is such a law. The 106th Sec. of the Act of the 2nd of July, 1839, entitled "Elections by the Citizens," and which is in full force, declares:

"If any person shall embezzle, or unlawfully deface, alter, substitute or destroy any ticket, &c., at any election as aforesaid, he shall, on conviction, suffer imprisonment for a term not less than twelve months nor more than three years, at the discretion of the Court, and be fined in any sum not less than one hundred, nor more than one thousand dollars."

Now, if the facts be true, as stated by our correspondent, it is the duty of every person cognizant of the facts, "to see to it (as honest Peter G. Meek, says) that the violaters of the law are properly punished and an example made that will deter others, hereafter, from a repetition of these offences. We hope our Potter twp. friend will "open the ball." Let the good work be commenced at once.

WASHINGTON.

Proclamation Against the Ku Kluk.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12, 1871.—Th President has issued the following: By the President of the United States of America, a proclamation.

WHEREAS, Unlawful combinations and conspiracies have long existed, and do still exist in the State of South Carolina for the purpose of depriving certain portions and classes of the people of that State of the rights, privileges, immunities and protection named in the Constitution of the United States and secured by the act of Congress, approved April 20, 1868, entitled "An act to enforce the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

And whereas, In certain parts of said State, to wit, in the counties of Spartansburg, York, Marion, Chester, Laurens, Newberry, Fairfield, Lancaster and Chesterfield such combinations conspiracies do so obstruct and hinder the execution of the laws of said State and of the United States as to deprive the people aforesaid of the rights, privileges, immunities and protection aforesaid, and do oppose and obstruct the laws of the United States and their due execution and impede and obstruct the due course of justice under the same;

And whereas, The constituted authorities of said State are unable to protect the people aforesaid in such rights within the said counties;

And whereas, As the combinations and companies aforesaid are organized and armed, and are so numerous and powerful as to be able to defy the constituted authorities of said State, and of the United States, within the said State and by reason of said causes the conviction of such offenders and the preservation and safety have become impracticable in said counties, now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States of America, do hereby command all persons composing the unlawful combinations and conspiracies aforesaid to disperse and to retire peaceably to their homes within five days of the date hereof, and to deliver, either to the marshal of the United States for the District of South Carolina, or to any of his deputies, or to any military officer of the United States within said counties, all arms, ammunition, uniforms, disguises, and other means and implements used, kept, possessed, or controlled by them, for carrying out the unlawful purposes for which the combinations and conspiracies are orgnized.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington the 12th day of October, in the year of our Lord 1871, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-sixth.

U. S. Grant

BELLEFONTE, PA.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

We lay before our readers the Lord's Prayer, beautifully paraphrased into an acrostic, by Thomas Sturtevant, Jr., a soldier of the 26th U. S. Infantry, and a prisoner of war in the province of Upper Canada.

Our Lord and King who reigns enthroned on high!
Father of light! mysterious Deity!
Who art the great I AM, the last, the first,
Art righteous, holy, merciful, and just,
In realms of glory, scenes where angels sing
Heaven is the dwelling place of God our King,
Hallowed thy name which doth all names transcend,
Be thou adored our great Almighty Friend,
Thy Glory shines beyond Creation's space,
Named in the book of Justice and of Grace,
Thy kingdom towers beyond the starry skies;
Kingdoms satanic fall, but thine shall rise,
Come let thine empire, O thou Holy one,
Thy great and everlasting will be done!
Will God make known his will, his power display?
Be it the will of mortals to obey,
Done is the great and wondrous works of love,
On Calvary's cross he died, but reigns above,
Earth bears the record in thy holy word,
As heaven adores thy name, let earth, O Lord,
It shines transcendant in the eternal skies.
Is praised in heaven, for man the Saviour dies,
In songs, immortal angels laud his name,
Heaven shouts with joy, and saints his love proclaim.
Give us, O Lord, our food, nor cease to give Us that food on which our souls may live!
This be our boon to day and days to come,
Day without end in our eternal home!
Our needy souls supply from day to day,
Daily assist and aid us when we pray.
Bread though we ask, Yet Lord, thy blessing lend,
And make us grateful when thy gifts descend,
Forgive our sins, which in destruction place
Us the vile children of a rebel race,
Our follies, faults and trespasses forgive,
Debts which we ne'er can pay, or thou receive;
As we, O Lord, our neighbor's faults o'erlook,
We beg thou d'st blot out from thy memory's book,
Forgive our enemies extend our grace
Our souls to save, e'en Adam's guilty race,
Debtor's to thee in Gratitude and Love,
And in that duty paid by saints above,
Lead us from sin, and in thy mercy raise
Us from the tempter and his hellish ways,
Not in our own, but in his name who bled,
Into thine ear, we pour our every need.
Temptations fatal charms help us to shun,
But may we conquer through thy conquering Son
Deliver us from all which can annoy
Us in this world and may our souls destroy,
From all calamities which men betide,
Evil and death, O turn our feet aside;
For we are mortal worms and cleave to clay;
Thine 'tis to rule and mortals to obey.
Is not thy mercy, Lord, forever free?
The whole creation knows no God but thee,
Kingdom and Empire in thy presence fall;
The King eternal reigns the King of all.
Power is with thee—to thee be glory given,
And be thy name adored by earth and heaven,
The praise of saints and angels is thine own;
Glory to thee, the everlasting One,
Forever be thy holy name adored;
Amen, Hosanna! blessed be thee Lord.

CONSTANS COMMANDERY AT BALTIMORE.

The members of Constans Commandery No. 33, Knights Templar, stationed at Bellefonte, left this place on Monday, the 18th of September, to attend the triennial conclave of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States, held at Baltimore, Md., on the 19th, 20th, 21st and 22d, ultimo.

This Commandery numbers in all about ninety-five members and is represented about equally in Clearfield, Clinton and Centre counties. The representatives of Bellefonte joined those of Clearfield county and Philipsburg on the 9 A. M. train of the 19th. At Lock Haven they were met by a detachment from that place, accompanied by the Lock Haven Silver Cornet Band, and escorted to the Montour House. After partaking of a bountiful dinner they assembled to the Masonic Hall, where all arrangements for the pilgrimage were completed.

Before leaving the Hall, Sir H. T Beardsley, on behalf of the Lock Haven Knights, presented Commander Constans Curtin an elegant and costly Templar's medal. Sir Beardsley said, that, recognizing the zeal, ability und knightly courtesy manifested by Eminent Commander Curtin in his official capacity, as well as the masonic graces which adorn his private life, the members from Lock Haven desired to present him this acknowledgement of their appreciation. Commander Curtin called upon Sir Geo. M. Yocum to respond, which he did in a pleasing and appropriate manner.

After this pleasant incident the Commandery formed on Water Street, and, headed by their band, marched to the fair ground for the purpose of general drill and inspection. The Templar drill, which is similar to the regular military tactics, excepting the traditional masonic figures, had been brought almost to perfection through the efforts of Sir Geo. D. Pifer, acting Captain General.

The handsome equipments, knightly bearing and perfect discipline of the Templars in performing many difficult manœuvres, elicited much commendation. After inspection, ranks were broken and the Knights dispersed until the arrival of the evening train. The following is a list of the

MEMBERS IN ATTENDANCE.

Sir Constans Curtin, Eminent Commander.

Sir George M. Yocum, Generalissimo.

Sir George D. Pifer, Captain General, pro tem.

Sir H. T. Beardsley, Prelate, pro tem.

Past Eminent, Sir D. G. Bush, Treasurer, pro tem.

Past Eminent, Sir S. T. Shugert, Recorder, pro tem.

Sir C. T. Fryberger, Senior Warden.

Sir F. P. Green, Junior Warden.

Sir George D. Tozer, Standard Bearer.

Sir P. B. Wilson, Sword Bearer.

Sir J. B. Ettele, Warder.

Sir Frank W. Lockwood, Captain of Guard.

Sirs T. C. Hipple, J. W. Chapman, M. B. Herring, Henry H. Herr, John Ligget, John S. Mason, Past Captain General, J. P. Salman, William McClellan, Henry C. Alford, W. F. Beardsley, Hobart Allport, H. T. Harvey, R. S. Barker, John E Furst, A. W. Lee, D. W. Holt, John Robson, J. T. Beardsley, J. E. McCartney, Peter McGeorge, John H. Holt, John D. Cox and John L. Doty. Special cars were provided, and at 9.55 P. M. the Commandery embarked for

BALTIMORE,

where they arrived at 9 o'clock of the 19th. The line of march was taken up to the Maltby House, where quarters had been secured. After breakfasting, the officers reported at the several head quarters, as follows: Head Quarters Grand Encampment of the United States, Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania, and of the several Baltimore Commanderies.

We will not presume to inflict our impressions of the grand display made by the Templars, or even to follow Constans Commandery through her devious lines of march and duty.

We did, however, accompany them to the Masonic Temple, where a princely coliation was spread at all hours, on numberless tables, decorated in most tasteful styles.

The large hall of that model of architecture was ornamented with flags and flowers, paintings and emblems, in the most regal manner. But, elegant as this room appeared to us, it was not more than worthy a comparison with the appearance of the Concordia Opera House, during the evening of the grand concert.

We were with them again when they visited the after their trip down the bay; and heard their courteous welcome and words of fraternal regard, and Sir D. G. Bush's neat and characteristic speech in reply.

THE GRAND PARADE.

This was the grand public feature of the occasion. The day set in clear and cool and continued so throughout. The members of Constans never made a better appearance. All seemed determined, although the chances were not favorable, among so many Commanderies, that they should receive their due share of attention.

The streets, windows and balconies, were all crowded along the line of march. They were second in line of the seventh division, commanded by Sir William H. Eagle. All the evolutions peculiar to the Templar drill were performed on the march and elicited frequent evidences of approval.

At one point, while a half hour's halt was given, they were invited by a Mr. George Small, formerly of this State, to his residence, where was prepared a most palatable lunch. This was, of all expressions of approbation, the most acceptable. Mr. Small is a large headed gentleman and will not be soon forgotten by Constans Commandery.

We clip the following from the Baltimore Sun, of Thursday:

The Sun office was honored by an elegant serenade from the Lock Haven Silver Cornet Band attached to Constans Commandery, No. 33, of Bellefonte, Pa. This commandery is composed of the solid men of that section of the State of Pennsylvania, and numbers 50 Knights in attendance, and its thorough equipment and perfect discipline elicit much commendation. The visiting Knights of this commandery were officially welcomed by Baltimore Commandery, No. 2, Monumental Commandery, No. 3, and Maryland Commandery, No. 1, at the several headquarters of these commanderies. The addresses of the officers of these several commanderies were eloquent and impressive, and were responded to by Sir George M. Yocum, of Constans Commandery, in a beautiful and appropriate manner. The Knights of this commandery then visited St. John's Commandery, No. 4, of Philadelphia, and Baldwin H., No. 22, of Williamsport, where they were most warmly welcomed and courteouly entertained. Sir Constans Curtin, E. C. of this commandery, may well feel proud of his gallant command. The Knights expressed themselves as highly delighted with Baltimore, and the courteous attentions they have received from the several commanderies of this city, the citizens generally, and the visiting Knights.

On Thursday we witnessed a

PRESENTATION,

at the Eutaw House. The present, a very handsome masonic mark, was made by Sirs Geo. D. Pifer, Frank P. Green and C. T. Fryberger, of this place, to Mrs. Sir Geo. K. Tozer. The presentation was made by Sir Geo. M. Yocum, in his usual happy style, and was responded to on the part of the fair recipient by Sir H. T. Harvey, in a most appropriate manner.

On Friday a number of the members of Constans Commandery made a pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., where they participated in the parade, and from there to to pay their devotions at the Mecca of America—the tomb of Washington.

The Commandery reached Bellefonte on Saturday evening, fatigued but well satisfied with the excursion. At an informal meeting of the members of Constans Commandery the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this commandery are due and are hereby tendered to Maryland Commandery, No. 1, Baltimore Commandery, No. 2, and Monumental Commandery No. 3, of Baltimore, for the princely hospitality extended to us while in attendance at the triennial Grand Encampment of Knights Templar at Baltimore. Also, to Mr. George Small for his generous consideration, in inviting the Sir Knights of this Commandery to partake of his hospitality.

Resolved, That copies of the above resolution be properly engrossed and sent to each of the above named parties.

REPORTER.

What is Happiness.

Plato declared happiness to consist in the contemplation of abstract ideas of beauty and excellence. This may be a good definition of the word, as understood by men with such minds as this great philosopher had, but it would apply to but few persons. Indeed, nine-tenths of the race would be miserable in any such pursuit or mental occupation. A young lady defined happiness to consist in the possession of a true and beautiful lover, and no doubt she spoke the truth as far as she could speak; but her grandmother at seventy would give quite another definition. To her it would consist in the contemplation of a well-spent life, and the hope of joy in the world to come. The truth is, each individual will define happiness in his own way. One man finds its in the pursuit of wealth, another in the pursuit of culture, another in the possession of religion. The philanthropist finds it in doing good. The hungry man seeks it in food, the cold man in warmth and shelter, the man of poverty in wealth. Probably, however, perfect health is the fountain source of more happiness than any other. With a good digestion, a tough skin, and a sound mind in a splendid body, who could not be happy? There are probably more happy men and women in the world than unhappy ones—more joy than sorrow. Many people think they are unhappy when they are not. Real unhappiness cannot exist without a cause. It is a shame and a disgrace to complain of being unhappy, when we are only lazy and unoccupied. Such people are like the fox who had a deep wound somewhere on his body, but he could not tell where. Let them be ashamed to own it, unless they can show good reason. Happiness consists in loving and being loved. There is enough to be loved in the world, but to be loved we must deserve it. We may be admired for our beauty or talent, courted for our influence or wealth, but we can only be loved as we are good. Therefore happiness consists in goodness. The sacred writer had it right when he said the kingdom of heaven is within you.

Perseverance.

It is an old subject, but one which cannot be too frequently forced upon the attention of the young. They should be made to realize that perseverence and success are synonymous terms; that no matter how auspicious may be their surroundings, they can never achieve eminence without perseverance, and that with it they can attain eminence, however adverse may be the circumstances of their lot. The lad who forms the habit of overcoming difficulties becomes the man who grapples with circumstances, boldly confronts all obstacles, real and imaginary, and by the momentum of his asserted will, as it were, is carried forward to success; or, as Montaigne declared three hundred years ago, man's power and determination to push forward increases with opposition, just as "the fire burns with greater fury when cold comes to mix with it."

Perseverance often recompenses for lack of native ability. Dr. Arnold, whose long experience with youth at Rugby enabled him to speak with authority, declared that "the difference between one body and another consists not so much in talent as in energy." Samuel Smiles adds: "Provided the dunce has persistency and application he will inevitably lead the cleverer fellow without those qualities." Dean Swift, Dr. Chalmers, Newton, Adam Clarke, Isaac Barrow, Chatterton, and Goldsmith, are signal illustrations of what persons with moderate abilities can attain to by acquiring habits of perseverance in boyhood. Walter Scott and the brilliant Sheridan were both looked upon as dunces in school. In fact, so much depends upon perseverance that Voltaire, Diderot, Disraeli, the elder, and others, have argued that this faculty was genius itself. While this may be a rather sweeping assertion, every boy and girl should be taught that perseverance and energy will do for them what genius cannot. The possession of genius is of no value without the perseverance to make it available. "As for the talk," wrote Washington Irving, "about modest merit being neglected, it is too often a cant term, by which indolent and irresolute men seek to lay their want of success at the door of the public. Well matured and well disciplined talent is always sure of a mark provided it exerts itself; but it must not cower at home and expect to be sought for."

The reputation of being plucky, determined and indefatigable is of inestimable value. It often dispels at the start opposition to one's undertakings, which would otherwise be formidable. The very fact that an enterprise has been undertaken by some individuals is a sufficient guarantee to the public that it will go through. Without stopping to make further inquiries, the people invest their money in it, with implicit confidence that it will yield handsome returns. The public sometimes confer a coveted boon upon an individual out of pure admiration for his perseverence in grasping after it. This is frequently the case in political life. Sixteen times Marcus Morton ran for Governor of Massachusetts without being elected. Finally some of the opposition, contending that so much pertinacity deserved success, voted for him on the sixteenth trial, in 1840, and he was chosen by one majority.

Sacred Influences.

Reading the achievements of great men, and listening to brilliant oratorical efforts, have an elevating influence. The talents and culture which are displayed strikingly contrast with our own, and stimulate us to new resolves and efforts, to the end that we may grow out of our littleness into more perfect men and women. Thus it is that we leave a public hall, recalling talents unimproved, opportunities lost, and precious time squandered, and reflecting that we, too, might have held audiences spell-bound as has the orator of the evening had we but willed it. Then follows the determination to commence work at once, and make up, if possible, for lost time. The lives of great men are perpetual reminders of what we may become while the immediate presence of those achieving greatness imparts a direct stimulus to us.

When brought in contact with high-bred people, persons of gentle birth and refined, agreeably manners, we instinctively modify our own manners. From this we may know how beneficial it is to keep models before us, and to seek as much as possible the society and companionship of our superiors, those whom we know will exert a healthy, elevating influence upon us.

The character of children is very much determined by means of this kind. Those born in poverty, and living in squalor, have their ambition aroused by reading the labors and exploits of persons who have distinguished themselves in one way and another. Especially is this true in a republic, wherein casts or lineal distinctions confine people to the conditions of life in which they are born.

Benjamin Franklin used to maintain that he was prompted when a lad to try and accomplish something in the world by reading Cotton Mather's Essays to do Good. And Samuel Drew declared that Franklin's example, in turn, animated him to choose the life upon which he entered. Smiles very truly observes that our character and careers are, to a great extent, determined by the models around us. "We mould ourselves unconsciously after the characters, manners, habits and opinions of those who are about us. Good rules may do much, but good morals far more; for in the latter we have instruction in action—wisdom at work. Good admonition and example only build with one hand to pull down with the other. Hence the vast importance of exercising great care in the selection of companions, especially in youth."

A Rule of Life.

All the world is striving to be happy; thousands spend their whole life time seeking the road to happiness, but how very, very few succeed! Some of our wisest philosophers have pronounced happiness a chimera that exists only in the imagination. It is a common fallacy of the human mind to place implicit confidence in surroundings to produce perfect happiness; therefore nearly every individual human being is striving for wealth, certain that when that great object is accomplished perfect felicity will naturally ensue. We are prone to look upon what we do not possess as necessary to our happiness. The weak, the sickly, and the puny feel that happiness depends entirely upon a healthy body and a sound digestion. Those who inherit wealth and a sound constitution think that all they have to do is to follow out implicitly the moral code, and say conscientiously to themselves, I do not lie, steal, swear, bear false witness, nor do I violate any of the moral laws. But such are not really happy, and they try to console themselves by saying that there is no such thing as perfect happiness in this world, that this is only a probationary state in which they are placed to do the best they know how, and that their future happiness is to follow, as a just reward or compensation for their sufferings on this earth. Oh, deluded men! you make a sad mistake, for just so sure as you are unhappy in this world, if there be another, you will be unhappy there. You have no time to lose; "be up and doing;" strive for knowledge; there is no end of improvement in the human mind. Instead of speculating in theories as to your future state, strive to make yourself worthy of this life, and conscience will cease to reprove, and happiness will surely be found. There is such a thing as being perfectly happy, but few give themselves time to think how it is accomplished.

A great French philosopher said that the root of all happiness was to be just; but in all his writings he never essayed to teach us how to be just. Herein lies the great secret:—No man is ever master of his profession until he studies it. Being just is as much a profession as being a doctor, a lawyer, or an author. How silly it would sound to say, Be a lawyer, and yet the expression is in substance the same. It is very satisfactory, indeed, to say, Be just; but, ah! how few understand, and how very few will take the trouble to learn! Every one has observed that those persons are happiest whose wants are fewest; they are only following out intuitively one of the elements of the rule of life by being just to themselves; and if they are not happy, it is because their philosophy is modified by other contingencies which their weaker intellect cannot comprehend.

The Water-Lily And The Soul.

The soul has its gradations and processes of expansion; its unfolding is slow, and regulated by the well ascertained law of cause and effect. Did you ever lie on a bank or sit in a boat and see a water-lily ripen and expand from the bulbous state into the full dazzling glory of perfect bloom? At first it lies upon the water a light green lobe—close, compact, the edges of its yet-to-be developed leaves seamless, entire; a floral cocoon, within whose dark sides is prisoned a future beauty beyond the splendor of golden-tinted wings. At length the light, close case begins to swell; the glued leaves let go their hold each on the other, and a pale, whitish streak marks where their bands are loosened. Still more the buoy-like bulb expands; the vital germ, clamoring for the sun, presses against its sides, until the green encasement, distended almost into a sphere, unable longer to endure the pressure, bursts at the top; the parted sections fall back upon the water, and the white globe of almond-pointed leaves, with its rich heart of gold, floats languidly upon the tide. Prodigal of its sweetness, it yields its perfume freely to the passing breeze; and the scented wind, gladly bearing so sweet a burden, wafts it abroad, leaving upon the air a fragrant trail. In this development you see the portraiture of that expansion which in the soul transpires under divine processes and management; for, like the lily, the soul at first lies compact in selfishness, devoid of perfume or any feature of loveliness, yet capable of both. At least the heavens warm toward it, and a germ divinely planted within aspires to grow. Then yearnings are felt; struggles and contests with what represses it occur. The hard, tough incasement of worldliness yield slowly and sullenly to the pressure of spiritual forces within. Drawn into it from above, continually comes brightness and warmth, ineffable, genial. It clamors for freedom. It presses against the sides of its prison. It refuses to be pent up, contracted, fettered, by its sins. It yearns for light, warmth and the free air of heaven. It persists; it wins; and the sanctified soul, white as a lily at last, with the blood of Christ for its heart, fragrant with the impartments of grace, bursts the coherence of its sins, and floats in the beauty of holiness on the "river of life."

A Singular Custom.

An English paper reports that July 25, was the day appointed for carrying out the directions contained in the will of Joseph Knill, of St. Ives, a seaport town in Cornwall. This gentleman, who was formerly Collector of the Port prior to his death, in 1788, made a most eccentric will, by which he directed that an obelisk should be directed to his memory. He also directed that every five years ten maidens, not exceeding ten years of age, two old women and a fiddler should dance around the monument, now known as "Knill's Steeple." The maidens and the old women were each to receive half a guinea, and the fiddler one guinea. In addition to these bequests, the oldest man in the parish, who had brought up the largest family by his own industry, was to receive five pounds sterling. After the ceremonies are over, the trustees of the fund and the Mayor and corporation of St. Ives proceed to dinner, on which, agreeably to the will, a certain amount of money is spent. On the last celebration, the day was kept as a general holiday by the people of the town.

THE BRINK.—It is appalling to think how near the happiest and most prosperous scene in life stands to the saddest despair. All homes are haunted with awful possibilities, for whose realization no array of threatening agents is required, no lightning, or tempest, or battle; a peaceful house-hold lamp, a gust of perfumed air, a false step in a moment of gayety, a draught taken by mistake, a match overlooked or mislaid, a moment's oversight in handling a deadly weapon—and the whole scene of life is irretrievably changed!

MORE THAN A MATCH.—A darkey was boasting to a grocer of the cheapness of ten pounds of sugar he had bought at a rival shop. "Let me weigh the package," said the grocer. The darkey assented, and it was two pounds short. The "colored gentleman" looked perplexed for a moment, and then said: "Guess he didn't cheat dis chile much for while he was gettin' de sugar, I stole two pair ob shoes."

THE music of nature is heard in the air.

THE AMERICAN WASHER?

PRICE $5.50

THE AMERICAN WASHER SAVES MONEY, TIME, AND DRUDGERY.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no Longer Dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing, Sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours' practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting! It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one-half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a Quilt to a Lace Curtain or Cambric Handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the LITTLE GEM! It can be fastened to any tub and taken of at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once becomes the fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this GREAT LABOR SAVER, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly.

CHICAGO BURNED.

GREATEST CALAMITY OF MODERN TIMES.

100,000 PEOPLE HOMELESS.

14,000 HOUSES BURNED.

EXTENT OF THE DEVASTATED DISTRICT.

CHICAGO, October 9, Noon.—The whole business portion of the city is in ashes, from Harrison street north to Chicago avenue, and east of the river to Lake avenue, three miles in length, and from one mile to one mile and a half in width. Every hotel, bank, express office, telegraph office, theater and newspaper office, with all the wholesale houses in the city, are totally destroyed. Many thousands dwellings, and the water works are also burned.

THE END NOT YET.

Early this morning the wind was blowing a perfect gale from the southwest, with a sky of brass. No one can as yet tell what the end will be. The only salvation for the remainder of the city is in the wind keeping its present direction.

Munificent offers of assistance are coming from every quarter. Thousands of people are homeless, and most of them in a destitute condition. The unburned streets are for miles lined with household goods. No one dare even think what the loss of life may be. The flames swept through the city with the rapidity of a prairie fire. Many must have perished.

An estimate has been made of the number of buildings destroyed, which foot up nearly ten thousand, and how many more will be swept away it is difficulty to conjecture.

It is agonizing to look up Dearborn, Lake and other streets, and see the grand structures molting away in the red-hot hell of flames.

The city water works were protected to the last by an army of people, who worked with desperation in hopes of keeping the flames away, and thus keeping one arm to battle against the fierce element, but without avail. They are now wrapped up in flames, and despair is upon every face. They cannot be saved; they are being consumed with astonishing rapidity.

The steamers are sucking water from the Lake, but it seems their efforts don't amount to much; they cannot battle against the great enemy that now besieges the city.

At noon, the flames leaping from one building to another, licking up the direction of Wabash avenue, one of the most noble thoroughfares in the world, and the fire has now got good headway at the southern portion of it. One magnificent residence after another is being wrapped in flames.

The wind is still blowing fresh, yet more of a gale it might be called, and Heaven knows at what point the fire may be checked, inasmuch as there is no water, and the only hope is by blowing up buildings with powder, which is being done.

People are without shelter, and worse, without food and there is none to be had only in the western portion of the city, which has escaped thus far the ravages.

People are flocking here from places in the vicinity of the city, and are companies are arriving—four from Cincinnati are on the way by a special train.

DEVASTATING REIGN OF THE FIRE FIEND.

ENGLEWOOD, (10 MILES FROM CHICAGO,) October 9, 11 A. M.—The work of devastation continues. More than one-half of the city is destroyed, and the flames continue their ravages almost unopposed. At about one o'clock this morning the fire crossed the river at Adams street bridge, soon destroyed the gas works, and spread itself in every direction, and at this hour almost every building from Harrison street north to the Chicago river is destroyed, including all insurance offices, newspaper establishments, with the exception of the Tribune office, which is fire proof; the Commercial House, Sherman House, Tremont House, Palmer House, the new Pacific Hotel, the new Bigelow House—in fact every hotel and everything else is swept clean. This district embraces all the heavy business houses in the city. The rains of fire and brimstone in Sodom and Gomorrah can hardly be compared to this disastrous reign of the fire fiend in Chicago.

More than one-half the population are now rushing through the streets in vehicles, which are obtained at enormous prices, on foot and in every other way, with their choicest household treasures in their arms and on their backs, in utter confusion, not knowing whither to go. Fearful suffering must follow, and almost immediately. Full one hundred and fifty thousand people are at this moment homeless and houseless, not knowing where to lay their heads or get anything to satisfy their cravings of hunger.

THE AWFUL WORK PROGRESSING.

CHICAGO, October 9.—The awful work of destruction goes on with relentless fury. From Harrison street south to Division street north, and from the river to the lake, an area of four miles long by one wide, the flames have swept everything before them. It is estimated that at least one hundred thousand people are homeless and in a suffering condition. The streets in the districts still unburned are lined for miles with such household goods as have been saved from destruction.

The most generous offers of assistence in money, food or anything wanted are coming from every city and town possible by telegraph. The Mayor has replied to several offers, asking that cooked food be forwarded as soon as possible. Men are on the way here from Cincinnati, St. Louis and other cities. The water works are entirely destroyed. They are now blowing up buildings on the line of the fire to attempt to arrest the progress of the flames.

SPREAD OF THE FIRE SOUTHWARD CHECKED.

LATER.—It is now believed the spread of the fire southward has been stayed at Harrison street, but on the north side there is no diminution of its fury, and that entire division of the city is evidently doomed to utter destruction, and there are grave fears that the flames may spread to the west side of the north branch of the river, and the inhabitants on the streets nearest the river are already moving to places of supposed greater safety.

The Western Union Telegraph have six wires working east and south, and running into the temporary office at the corner of State and Sixteenth sts.

The Northwestern Railroad is running trains on both its branches, which are crowded with fleeing citizens.

It is now positively asserted by some that the water works are still intact, but that the water has been shut off from the south and west divisions on account of the quantity being used on the north side. Reliable gentlemen just arrived from the north division bring the joyful intelligence that the water works are uninjured. God grant it may prove true.

It is impossible now to give even an approximately correct statement of the losses, but a faint idea may be formed when, it is stated, that every bank in the city, except two small savings institutions, one on Twenty-Second street in the South Division, and one on Randolph in the West, are destroyed; all the large retail establishments, the Post-office, Court House, Chamber of Commerce, every hotel on the South Division, except the Michigan Avenue Hotel, which stands on the extreme southern limit of the fire, escaped though badly scorched; every newspaper office, the Tribune, building, supposed; every theater, six of the largest elevaters, the immense depots of the Michigan Southern and Illinois Central Railroads, both passenger and freight depots of the latter, more than a score of churches, and much of the shipping on the river.

MILLIONAIRES OF YESTERDAY PENNILESS TO-DAY

Men who were millionaires yesterday morning are nearly penniless to-day.

SCORES MEET FIREY DEATH.

But more terrible than all is the awful certainty that many human beings have found firey graves; how many no one can now tell; but some are known to have perished, and there is a heart sickening fear that the victims of the firey monster may be counted by scores.

Hundreds of horses and cows have been burned in stables, and on the north side a number though released from confinement bewildered and confused by the sea of fire that surrounded them, they rushed to and fro uttering cries of fright and pain until scorched and killed.

ATTEMPTS AT DESCRIPTION USELESS.

Any attempts at description of the scenes of this appalling calamity would be idle, the simple facts that the once great city of Chicago is destroyed, that hundreds of millions of her actual capital have vanished, and that nearly one-third of her inhabitants are homeless dependents, are enough. Any attempts to embelish would be but mockery.

ANXIOUS WATCHERS.

As this awful day draws to a close, thousands of anxious eyes watch the dense clouds of smoke which still roll over the burnt districts with dread that a sudden change of wind may turn the flames upon that portion of the city yet spared.

THE INFECTION OF BENEVOLENCE—THE PRESIDENT MAKES A TEN-STRIKE.

Special Dispatch to Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 11, 1871.

The national disaster has engrossed the attention of the citizens to-day to a greater extent, if possible, than while the fire was in progress. Subscriptions are making from all classes. Governor Stanton has called the Legislature to legalize the hundred thousand dollars pledged for the city by the meeting of citizens lastnight.

All in the Interior Department from Secretary's office to the laborers, have agreed to give one day's salary, and among all employees of the Government here the same spirit prevails. The Illinois Republican Association sent four thousand dollars to-day, and will send more to-morrow. The public schools to-day made large contributions of clothing and most of the scholars gave their mites. Most of the trades are giving a day's wages. On Monday the hackmen are to give the gross amount of their fares.

The elections of yesterday have passed almost without comment. Scarcely a dozen persons have called at the office of the principal western papers here to ask about the returns. All inquiries and all talk were concerning the fire. The same has been true throughout the day in Baltimore. The President and Cabinet are in constant consultation regarding the best measures to secure aid in the various departments of the government. All the available stores of the War Department east and west will be used to whatever extent necessity requires. Much is hoped in the way of effective organizations to supply food, shelter and blankets from the measures in execution by General Sheridan. The President telegraphs the following to-day: "To Hon. Samuel Cooper, Boston: Would it not be well for the good people of Boston to dispense with the ceremony and expense of a public reception on the occasion of my visit to your city, and to appropriate such portion of the funds set apart for that purpose as is deemed advisable for the relief of the sufferers by the Chicago disaster? I am sure such a course would please me."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The clerks and other employees of the Interior Department have contributed four thousand dollars for Chicago. The Government has sent a special train from Philadelphia with blankets, which will reach Chicago on Thursday.

THE ELETIONS.

The political upheaval of Tuesday, though pretty clearly indicated by the nature of like events for six weeks past, surpasses the expectations of the most sanguine. Looking at it in every rational light it betokens a still greater uprising of the republican masses next year. This, as all admit, has been a recannoissance in force. The skirmishers performed their work in New Hampshire and Connecticut. In the former state the democrats obtained a temporary advantage which proved well nigh barren of results in that state, but which threw them off their balance and lost them Connecticut. Whether this reaction would have continued in the natural course of events cannot, of course, be told. But the cowardly surrender of the city of New York to a mob in July set the people to thinking. The upheaval in California and in the territories followed swifly. Meantime the exposure of the frauds of Tammany swelled the tide of political disaster to the democrats, and Maine, though republican, followed in the wake of Calffornia with an increased republican majority. The canvass had been dull and uneventful. Apathy was said to prevail everywhere; yet the vote showed that noise does not gauge the earnestness of a people. The rusult in Texas, regarded doubtful by both parties, gave some cheer to the democrats. But the news came too late to encourage the rank and file, and probably exerted no influence to avert the final catastrophe to that party on Tuesday.

The amount of knowledge possessed by any party, as an organization, is never great. But the democratic leaders have much to learn. They have to learn that the practice of surrendering to mobs can never prevail in this country. It was tried in Kansas in 1857, and it was repeated at Washington in 1861. Another surrender was made in New York in 1863, and still another in this present year in the same city. The American people forgive many sins, but never poltroonery. Even cowards despise cowardice. The present leaders of that party have also to learn that it will not do to excuse, or palliate, or cover up frauds perpetrated by men of their political faith. The great public listens and learns. It looks on and decides. It has not yet seen any arraignment of democratic placeman by party leaders. It has seen those leaders and the journals denying facts and figures until the testimony overwhelmed them, and compelled them to speak out. Not a single leading democratic paper in this state has ever admitted that the democratic authorities of New York city were guilty of frauds without parallel, without qualifying the admission by various doubts. Now, the intelligent masses note these things. They note the fact that the Tammany frauds were unearthed by republicans. They note the fact that the frauds and defalcations of republican placemen are exposed and punished, generally with promptness by the party to which the offenders belong. We but state facts. The people are wiser than many who affect to despise them. It does not pay to outrage the masses by subterfuge and insincere arguments. The strength of a party lies in its prompt arraignment of its offending placemen. If men steal, they must be punished. If political leaders deal in falsehood, the people will punish them. We cannot say that the victories of Tuesday will profit the republicans. That is for them to determine. If they pursue the straight course, and deal fairly with the people, these victories will only herald others. But if they refuse to learn they, too, will feel the heavy hand of popular retribution.

The result in Pennsylvania is peculiarly significant as touching the nomination for president in 1872. The result elsewhere has heretofore been disclaimed as indicating the will of the republican masses touching that matter. But in Pennsylvania the issue was squarely made in the republican state convention and before the people. That issue was the nomination of General Grant. The state has overwhelmingly declared for his renomination, and the voice of Pennsylvania practically settles the question in advance. Both parties placed the issue squarely before the people and the people have returned their verdict.—The Day.

EVERY FAMILY should have a case of DR HUMPHREY'S SPECIFIC HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINES. They are simple, easily applied, harmles, and yet in a thousand instances, they arrest disease, allay pain and suffering, save calling the doctor, and prove a friend indeed. The valuable service rendered, immensely overbalances the small sum they cost. See Advertisement. Address.

[The following article is taken from a British periodical; but we fancy that it will not be lost on American readers. —Ed. N. Y. Ledger.]

How To Discourage Your Minister.

SET FORTH IN TWELVE PLAIN RULES.

1. Hear him "now and then," and drop in a little late. Do not sing; do not find the texts in your bible. If You take a little sleep during the sermon, so much the better.

2. Note carefully any slip he makes while you are awake; point out the dull portions to your children and friends; it will come round to him.

3. Censure his efforts at usefulness; deplore compassionately his want of common sense; let him know that you won't help him because A. B. does, because you were not first consulted, or because you did not start the plan yourself.

4. Let him know the follies and sins of his hearers; show him how much he overrates them; and tell him their adverse criticisms on himself.

5. Tell him, when he calls, what a stranger he is; how his predecessor used to drop in for an hour's chat and how much you liked him.

6. Never attend the prayer-meeting; frequent no special services. Why should you be righteous overmore?

7. Occasionally get up a "little gayety" for the young folks. This will be found very effectual about the communion season. "There is a time to dance."

8. Give him no intimation when you are ill; of course he should know; and your offended dignity when he comes to see you will render his visit pleasant. On no account intimate your recovery.

9. Require him to swell the pomp of every "important occasion," unless indeed there be prudential reasons for passing him over.

10. If he is always in his pulpit, clamor for strangers; if he has public duties and sometimes goes abroad, complain that he is never at home.

11. Keep down his income. Easy means are a sore temptation, and "fulness of bread" is bad for every one—but "the laity."

12. As he will probably find it hard to be always at home to receive callers, and always "running about among the people," and always well prepared for pulpit and platform, you will be sure to have just cause of complaint in one way or other. Tell it to everybody; and then lament that there is so general dissatisfaction with them.

Patient continuance in courses like these, modified according to circumstances, has been known not only to discourage, but to ruin the usefulness and break the spirit of ministers, to send them off to other charges, and sometimes to their graves.

BRIGHT SPOTS.—The bright spots of a man's life are few enough without blotting any out; and since, for a moment of mirth, we have an hour of sadness, it were a sorry policy to diminish the few rays that illumine our chequered existence. Life is an April day—sunshine and flowers. The heart like the earth, would cease to yield good fruit were it not sometimes watered with the tears of sensibility; and the fruit would be worthless but for the sunshine of smiles.

MEN make themselves ridiculous not so much by the qualities they have, as by the affectation of those which they have not.

AIR is a dish which one feeds on every minute; therefore it ought always to be fresh.

Smoking and Drinking Boys.

The good, old fashioned rule, 'Spare the rod and spoil the child,' however gone into desuetude in this country, is still relished in England. Bishop Goss, of Liverpool, not only approves of boys being soundly thrashed when they deserve it, but at a recent public meeting he had the nerve to declare that: "There is not a nicer ornament, or a more useful article at home in the house, than a birch rod. I like to see one hanging up," observes this divine- "it is far more useful than the old; fashioned warming pan, or even the copper kettle." Like a sensible man, too, he is "down" on the children who smoke tobacco, as he ought to be, and as everybody else with a proper respect for humanity ought to be. "I have seen," said he, "a lad of fifteen or sixteen, with a pipe stuck in his mouth, entering a public house and calling for his gill or quart of ale, and thinking it manly. Why if such a one had his deserts, his father would take a good stout hazel, or an ash plant, and lay it on his back with a will—a birch rod for the younger, and an ash plant for the older ones."

That bishop has evidently had a good view of the life around him, and speaks like one who is not to be deterred from being candid. If there is a melancholy spectacle in the world, it is such a sight as he describes—a youth stunting the growth of his physique and intellect by the use of beer and tobacco, and before nature has had an opportunity to strengthen herself sufficiently to resist the potent influence of such "luxuries." For full-grown men both of these indulgences may be harmless enough; for children they are in every sense noxious. We cannot expect to have stalwart, thinking men in our day and generation if we wink at such a disposition to perpetrate gradual suicide on the part of boys. The bishop is right. We wish his teachings were more followed in the United States.

What Is Poetry?

A smile, a tear, a longing after the things of eternity! It lives in all created existence, in man, and every object that surrounds him. There is poetry in the gentle influences of love and affection; in the quiet broodings of the soul over the memories of early years, and in the thoughts of that glory which chains our spirits to the gates of paradise. There is poetry, too, in the harmonies of nature. It glitters in the wave, the rainbow, the lightning, and the star; its candence is heard in the thunder of the cataract; its softer tones go sweetly up from the thousand voicebards of the wind, the rivulet and forest; and the cloud and sky go floating over us to the music of its melodies. There is not a moonlight ray that comes down upon the stream or hill, not a breeze calling from its blue air, thrown to the birds of the summer valleys, or sounding through midnight rain its low and mournful dirge over the perishing flowers of spring—not a cloud, bathing itself like an angel vision in the rosy blushes of autumn twilight—nor a rock glowing in the yellow starlight, as if dreaming of the Eden land, but is full of the beautiful radiance of poetry. It is the soul of being. The earth and heaven are quickened by its spirit, and the heavings of the great deep, in tempest and calm, are but its ascent and mysterious workings.

Medical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remidies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residence in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

ELECTRIC BOOT POLISH

MAKES BOOTS LOOK LIKE NEW ONES
AND CALF-SKIN LIKE PATENT LEATHER.

It is put up in a Patent Box, the greatest novelty of the age. The Box alone is worth more to keep than the price of Box and Polish combined.

"KRUGHAT,"

The Genuine TURKISH BATH COMPOUND, used in all Oriental countries, in the bath, and manufactured by us on a license and royalty, in exact style, odor and quality from the original receipt, as that made in Constantinople, and import duties, premium on gold, etc., saved thus enabling us to sell it at a very low price. By its use a bath becomes indeed a luxury. Very highly scented, and producing miraculous effects upon the skin. It is really worth a trial.

Medical.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the Upper on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

ROSADALIS!

ROSADALIS

THE INGREDIENTS THAT COMPOSE ROSADALIS are published on every package, therefore it is not a secret preparation, consequently

PHYSICIANS PRSCRIBE IT

It is a certain cure for Scrofula, Syphilis in all its forms, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint and all diseases of the Blood.

1 Bottle of Rosadalis will do more good than ten bottles of the Syrups of Sarsaparilla.

THE UNDERSIGNED PHYSICIANS

Laugh'er.

Don't be afraid of a little laughter and jollity. "Good Health" says that there probably is not the remotest corner or little inlet of the minute blood vessels of the body which does not feel some wavelet from the great convulsion produced by hearty laughter, shaking the central man. The blood moves more lively—probably its chemical electric or vital condition is indistinctly modified—it conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body, as it visits them on that particular mystic journey, when the man is laughing. from what it does at other times. And thus it is that a good laugh lengthens a man's life, by conveying a distinct and additional stimulus to the vital forces. The time may come when physicians, attending more closely than they do now to the innumerable subtle influences which the soul exerts upon its tenement of clay, shall prescribe to a torpid patient "so many peals of laughter, to be undergone at such and such a time," just as they do now that far more objectionable prescription, a pill or an electric or galvanic shock, and shall study the best and most effective method of producing the required in such patient.

Sleep, Fainting, Apoplexy.

When a man is asleep, his pulse beats, his lungs play, but he is without sense, and you can wake him up.

If a person faints, he too, is without sense, but he has no pulse and does not breathe.

Apoplexy is between the two; the heart beats, the lungs play as in sleep, and there is no sense, as in fainting, but you cannot shake the man back to life.

In sleep, the face is natural; in a fainting fit, it has the pallor of death; in apoplexy, it is swollen, turgid and fairly livid.

If a man is asleep, let him alone; nature will wake him up as soon as he has got sleep enough.

When a person faints, all that is needed is to lay him down on the floor and he will "come to" in double quick time. He fainted because the heart missed a beat, failed for an instant, failed for only once to send the proper amount of blood to the brain. If you place the patient in a horizontal position, lay him on his back, it does not require much force of the heart to send the blood on a level to the head; but you set a man up, the blood has to be shot upward to the head, and this requires much more force; yet in nine cases out of ten, if a person faints and falls to the floor, the first thing done is to run to him and set him on a chair. In apoplexy, as there is too much blood in the head, every one can see that the best position is to set a man up, and the blood naturally tends downward, as much so as water will come out of a bottle when turned upside down, if the cork is out.

That Crrespondence.

A Western exchange things that the following is about the substance of the recent correspondence between Bismarck and Earl Granville on the Heligoland question:—

Bismarck to Granville.—My compliments. Germany desires to buy the island of Heligoland. It lies close to our coast, and we need it Yours and so forth.

Granville to Bismarck.-My warmest regards. Great Britain does not wish to sell Heligoland. We need it ourselves. It isn't for sale. Yours very truly.

Bismark to Granville.-Compliments of the season. You don't understand me. You must sell Heligoland. It is a menace to our national safety. We cannot permit you to continue to own it. Name your price at once, and no foolishness. With expressions of the most distinguished consideration, I am, my dear sir, your affectionate and humble servant.

Granville to Bismarck.—Honored sir. I tell you it is'nt for sale. The fact that you covet it is of no importance to us. Hoping. etc., I am, etc.

A Hundred Years To Come.

No man appears to think how soon he must sink into oblivion—that we are one generation of millions. Yet such is the fact. Time and progress have, through countless ages, come marching hand in hand—the one destroying, the other building up. They seem to create little or no commotion, and the work of destruction is as easily accomplished as a child will pull to pieces a rose. Yet such is the fact. A hundred years hence, and much that we now see around us will have passed away. It is but a repetition of life's story: we are born; we die, and hence we will grieve over these venerable piles, finding the common level of their prototopes in Nature—ultimate death.

We all within our graves shall sleep,
A hundred years to come;
No living soul for us shall weep,
A hundred years to come;
But other men our land will till,
And other men our streets will fill,
And other birds shall sing as gay,
As bright the sunshine as to-day,
A hundred years to come.

FAITHFULLY perform your duty.

CATHOLIC FAIR.—The Catholic Congregation of this place, held a Fair during the week of the County Fair, for the purpose of raising money to complete and decorate the new Cemetery. We understand that the profits amounted to $500. The two leading prizes were a Silver Horn valued at $100, and a ladies handsome Gold Watch and Chain, valued at $125. The Logan Fire Company drew the horn by 383 votes majority over the Undine, and Miss Mattie Dare drew the watch. Everything passed off quietly, and the managers deserve great credit for their activity and vigilance.

A NEW style of Paper Dolls, just received, at Rankin's.

IN SIX MONTHS, beginning March 1st, and ending October 1st, the Administration has paid off sixty millions forty-four thousand nine hundred and seven dollars of the National debt. This has been done by an honest and economical Administration of the finances, and in the face of a large reduction of taxes. The annual interest upon the public debt has been reduced by this payment three millions six hundred thousand dollars

For the REPUBLICAN.

PHILIPSBURG.—We, by call of business, had an opportunity of pleasing ourselves with a jaunt to Philipsburg. As usual we enjoyed the Mountain scenery en-route to the city, which is especially grand and beautiful at this season of the year. We also had the pleasure of indulging in a friendly shake of the paw. with our old friend, and that first class and gentlemanly conductor, Wm. Irvin, Esq., who still runs the mail train on the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, and who never fails to look after the comfort, convenience and safety of his passengers. He don't seem to be getting any too thin on account of his responsibilities either. We found Philipsburg occupying its usual location, only a little more of it. Within the last year it has been making many good and substantial improvements.

Dr. Potter, one of the goaheaditive citizens of the Burg has just completed quite a fine improvement in the way of an addition to his large brick block. The new addition furnishes three fine business rooms, as well as a public Hall, that will comfortably seat five hundred people. The business rooms of the block were occupied immediately upon their being finished. In one of them we found our former townsman, Harry Herrington, snugly ensconced behind the counter, dispensing all healing remedies, for the ills that human flesh falls heir to, profusely. We were pleased to find Harry looking well, and flourishing; and must say that the drug store of Allport & Herrington is one of the finest in the county. The new dwelling about being completed by Dr. Hoop, is but another fine testimonial of that gentleman's push and success. We met Ellsworth the Journal man, whom we found a genial companion, and who, although he talks neutrally through his columns, we found him equal to saying amen, to success of the Republican party. Ellsworth gets up a paper that does credit to the Burg as well as himself. G. H. Zeigler, Lloyd of the Railroad House, and a host of other staunch Republicans, were smiling largely on account of our great Republican triumph at the polls. One of the first fellows we ran against was our young townsman R. F. Rankin, who informed us he too had cast his lot with the inhabitants of Philipsburg, and invited us into his drug store, newly fitted up. In we went and was introduced to his partner, Mr. Williams, whom we found to be genial and as good looking as "Bob." Their store presented a good appearance, and feel assured that they will succeed, and that the citizens of the "Burg" will be intelligently supplied with all the remedies necessary to preserve their health by "Harry" and "Bob." We would not forget to mention, that A. Owen, Esq., whose recent success in West Verginia speculations, have enabled him, to give the town a push. has put in his Oar and erected a fine three story brick block adjoining that of Dr. Potter. The town generally is progressive and enlarging its proportions rapidly, and is destined as its coal fields develop, to be the largest town in the county in a few years. Business generally seemed to be active; the mines were being strongly worked, Perks was running his mill to its full capacity, and said he was making the best flour in the country. The new tannery is shipping in large quantities the best of leather, and they say its quality is such, that the "souls" of the people are sure to be preserved and saved.

In short Philipsburg is looking up, and since she has been voting the Republican ticket, she has been getting up faster and higher than she ever did before. We say come up higher still.

THE CHICAGO HORROR.

LATER DETAILS.

STORIES OF EYE WITNESSES.

THE STREET EXECUTIONS.

STATEMENT BY OFFICERS OF THE PULLMAN PALACE CAR.

W. A. Boatman, an officer in Pullman & Palmer's Car company, proceeded to Chicago last Saturday evening, leaving there again on Monday night. He arrived at his house in Division St., some short time before its destruction. Stationing his wife at the front door to keep guard against the sudden advance of the flames, he procured a spade, and digging a hole in his back garden, buried the whole of his china and dishes. These, he has since ascertained, are perfectly safe. With great difficulty he contrived to get three ladies away from the house, but not a moment too soon, as the fire had reached his block and was literally sweeping all before it.

THE HANGING OF A MAN

in West Lake street on Monday. The culprit had been detected in throwing brands, and was immediately executed. The crowd are described as not being noisy, each man acting as with a fixed purpose. Not so with a sight in East Madison street, where some poor wretch was hanged by the heels.

DREADFUL EXECUTION.

Being caught in the act of setting fire to some building, he was conducted to the tree. The crowd thinks ordinary hanging too lenient a death, so it is determined to suspend the poor wretch by the feet. He is, therefore, pinioned round the arms, the rope being, meanwhile, fastened to his feet. As this is done the unhappy wretch begs that he may be allowed to die by strangulation. This is not allowed. The other end having been passed over the bough of the tree, he is tripped off his feet and hauled up feet first. When his head is about three feet from the ground the end of the rope is fastened round the trunk of the tree. Some fiend, not content with this, raises a huge stone, and dashes it with all his might at the head of the hanging man. It is a good aim, for the rose is seen to be broken. Others participate in the sport, and soon the head is not distinguishable, but is one mass of gore and pulp. This is such brave sport that the dull thud sound is heard as each stone is flung, while the narrator passed down the street. In Balsted street a youth about sixteen had been caught kindling a fire, with the intent of spreading the flames through the city. When last seen by Mr. Boatman he had one arm completely wrenched out of the socket, and was then being conducted to the place of his execution. The mob had got possession of these two last cases. but as a rule the hanging was done in a purely justifiable manner, no cruelty being used, but merely to make an example to the other deperate characters.

One feature in the destruction of the city that had not as yet been noticed, was the number of that took place in the north division of the city. That portion is almost exclusively inhabited by carpenters and planing mill owners, and Mr. Boatman being in the vicinity, distinctly heard the explosions follow one another like the discharge of cannon. In that part of the city the fire spread so rapidly that whole trains were unable to get beyond the reach of the devouring element, but were swallowed up immediately.

THE EXECUTED THIEVES—A GOOD RIDDANCE.

With the terrible news of disaster and calamity flashed across the electric wires from Chicago yesterday, came the cheering intelligence that by the stern rigor of the martial law of General Sheridan this city has been released forever from the depredations of as vile a gang of lawless scoundrels as ever picked a pocket or cut a throat. The despatches stated that James Munday, Barney Aaron, Bill Tracey, Jim Brown, Edward Newman, famous under the alias of Dutch Heinrichs, and Joe Butts, the bank robber, were shot and hung by the United States soldiers, having been caught red-handed in the midst of their robberies.

The manner of the removal of the precious quartette who have been removed is just this. Aaron and Tracy went to Chicago and put up in the hostelry of Tom Foley, on Fourth avenue, where all the Western mob of thieves stayed while in Chicago. During the progress of the fire they; with Munday and Brown, who had joined them, went out to rob. They struck through the burning streets, and at last reached Clark and Randolph streets, at the Sherman house. This was before that magnificent hotel caught fire, but the flames were rapidly sweeping toward it. There was a large jewelry store further down, and a bank nearly opposite. The fire had touched these and the door had been broken open to let the firemen run their hose through the buildings. Tracey and Aaron went for the jewelry store, while Brown and Munday struck for the bank. Both parties were captured. Two lamp-posts were convenient, and some of the citizens' special police elevated Tracy and Aaron thereon, but a sweeter fate befell Messrs. Munday and Brown. They were captured by some of the infantry from Omaha, men who speak to a thief with the butts of their muskets, and ask him where he is going with the muzzle. The consequence was natural. Munday and Brown were stood up with their backs against the wall of a house, and the rifles of the soldiers did the rest. So ended the Chicago career of the Aaron gang of thieves.

PLUNGED INTO THE RIVER TO ESCAPE THE FLAMES.

Refugees from the ill-fated city crowd every eastward bound train. The Erie train yesterday brought. among others, Mr. Charles N. Armour, who was engaged in the "Inside Printing House" of Kellogg & Co. His relatives reside in East Seventeeth street in this city. He was hemmed in by the fire on the river's bank, and only saved his life by plunging into the current. There he clung to a floating plank, and afterward clambered upon a barge. His hair and whiskare singed close to the roots, and the skin on his face, neck and hands is blistered. One eye is badly inflamed, and his whole appearance indicates the peril which he has undergone. His story is replete with fresh horrors. He relates as follows:

"In the first place, you may write from now until doomsday and use up the whole dictionary of adjectives, and then you can't begin to tell the whole story. I have seen more than I ever can remember, for

I LIVED A HUNDRED YEARS IN SIX HOURS.

"When I first made up my mind that the fire would cross the river and go over the other side of the town, I left my boarding house with two friends and walked down to the river to see. This was Sunday night. We kept walking until some one said:

"Here the fire is coming right at us.

"We turned and saw the flames not more than two blocks off, sweeping along toward us in a semi-circle. We ran back to the house to save our things, but the house itself was nearly burned down. My two friends ran down toward Adams street. I kept on back to the river. All the bridges except the Adams street bridge were gone, and that I could not get to, as the fire was between me and it. I went down close to the dock. Every minute the fire came nearer, and cinders filled the air. Soon the heat was not endurable. The hot cinders fell on me and set my clothes on fire. I could not stand it any longer, so I plunged into the stream and swam to a float tied up to a spile. Even the water was warm and thick with charred wood and ashes. I kept wetting my clothes to keep the sparks from burning my flesh. The air was full of smoke, and I was obliged to

PUT MY FACE DOWN CLOSE TO THE WATER

to breathe. Some of the shipping had been removed, and all that was left was blazing. I expected to die every moment. The flames made such a crackling noise I could not hear much else, except the crash of the tumbling walls as the tall buildings fell in. But all at once I heard voices, and saw a little barge, towed by a propeller, coming along. It was covered with people. Men. women and children were piled upon it, so that some sat holding on to the outer rail. I shouted with all my might, but the boat went on. As it grazed my float, I stretched out my hands. I was caught and helped up, and I tell you I never was so thankful in my life. I had to hang on to the legs of those on board, with my feet dangling outside. All this time the sparks were falling and burning where they fell. The women and children screamed with pain and terror. The water was as red as blood. Some of the docks were all afire, and seemed like one great live coal. There were two horses, a cow and many dogs swimming, and vainly trying to get a safe place, but there was no place for them to land. As we came to the Adams street bridge, it was partly consumed. Just then a handsome coach. with two splendid horses, apparently furious with fright, came leaping upon it. As the centre was reached the timbers gave way and horses and carriage

WERE TUMBLED INTO THE RIVER.

We are almost under them; but our tug dashed ahead over the fallen planks, and although we were very nearly overturned and terribly shaken, we passed on safely until we reached the lake. Many were severely burned on the way. At one place the flames made an almost perfect arch, high above the banks on either side, from shore to shore. Had it not been for the noble daring of Captain Damon, who went to the rescue of the barge with its hundreds of helpless ones, all would have perished, either by fire or water. I was told that many plunged overboard to escape the fury of the flames and were drowned. Several bodies have since been found. Large numbers of dead animals floated in the water.

THE MORGUE—THE BODIES OF THE BURNED.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11, via Cincinnati, Oct. 12.—The sickening sensation of yesterday was the establishment of a Morgue for the exhumed remains of the mighty fire. This shocking repository is the hearse and carriage-room of

A LOWER CLASS UNDERTAKER,

on Hebbard street, near Halstead, a few blocks from the freight depot of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis railway. It is little better than a barn, and yet it is incorporated with the dwelling of the proprietor and the stable for his horses. The place was guarded by armed policemen, we found it difficult to keep off a constantly renewed crowd of people. with in every pale and pitiful face. At the far end of this room was a petitioned space, lighted by dirty, cobwebbed windows, and on the floor, arranged in rows, first all around the three sides and then down the middle were the charred remains of seventy human beings. The first noticeable object of this dreadful company was the form of a Sister of some Roman Catholic order, completely shrouded in her brown habit, with the cross and I. H. S. in white letters stitched upon the bosom. The face was thickly veiled, and even the feet were carefully covered. "She was smothered, but not burned," observed the grim master of ceremonies. Next was the body of a young man, partly clad.

HORROR AND ANXIETY DEPICTED

THE HAIR WAS COMPLETELY BURNED OFF

his head and body. The features were blackened and distorted with pain. The swollen lips were wide apart, disclosing the glistening teeth and imparting a horrid grin, such only as agonizing death stamps upon the face. The flesh was bloated to an astonishing size. The poor wretch was roasted alive. There was one charred form of a woman, in the attitude of prayer, but every feature of the face was gone. The head was nothing but a black lump? the body a hideous, blackened snape. Some bodies of men could be distinguished by the remains of clothing and boots, but nearly all traces of humanity were gone. Then there were

REMAINS OF CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE,

but they, with the majority, were nothing more than mere blackened charred corpses. Those whose limbs or arms remained exhibited a supplicatory attitude, as if begging mercy of the destroyer. To this ghastly, hideous and melancholy spectacle were admitted, in little parties of four or five at a time, those who had friends or relatives missing. No language can describe the scenes of heart rending agony those grim visits elicited. A family of little children, led by an elder sister comes, and, after the first sickening shock,

TRIES TO DISTINGUISH THE LOST MOTHER.

A frantic wife, attended by a friend, comes in search of her unreturning husband. Brothers seek sisters lost, and sisters their brothers gone—but who can tell in that undistinguishable charnal what home the living being once made happy? All personal identifications is gone with the obliterating fire, and nothing is left but ashes. Worse, perhaps, than identification is the withering disappointment in not finding the missing. The wretched beings go away wringing their hands, tearing their hair and rending the very air with piteous cries and terrible wailings. Besides these burned bodies, the Morgue yesterday contained five newly coffined corpses. One was that of a man caught in the act of firing a house and shot dead; another of a man hanging to a lamp post by a mob for the same crime. Another, of a German tailor who lost all, and cut his throat from ear to ear with a razor. The fourth, of a woman who died in premature childbirth, brought on by fright.

SHERIDAN APPEARS.

Yesterday afternoon, when fire was rushing southward along Michigan and Wabash avenues like a race horse, and firemen and people were paralyzed, a new leader suddenly burst upon the scene. General sheridan, "fighting Phil," who can fight rebels or flames, sprang upon a fire engine and made one of those sharp, stirring speeches for which he is noted. He told the people that if they would save the city the fire line must be broken by gunpowder; the buildings must be blown up, and if they would go to work systematically he would assist them. The effect was electrical. The crowd recognizing the hero of so many battle-fields, and having faith in his leadership, replied with loud hurrahs, and acting under the General's orders, in a few minutes so many buildings had been blown up that the fire line was broken and the southern portion of the city was saved from destruction. The burned district covers about five square miles.

The MORMONS—BRIGHAM YOUNG ARRESTED.

We clip the following, from the "Christian Union," a most excellent paper, Edited by Rev. Heury Ward Beecher:

A month or so ago a speck of trouble arose in Salt Lake City, and now polygamy is in a fair way to be put on trial before the United States Court and under the territorial laws of Utah. The trouble originated upon the enforcement of a recent act of Congress, whereby the penitentiaries which have heretofore been managed by the Mormons, were placed under the care of the United States Marshal. When that officer presented himself to take possession of the building the Mormons marched out, taking with them not only the furniture, but the solitary prisoner, who was serving out a sentence for manslaughter, and established themselves in their own special jail in Salt Lake City. A surrender was made when the United States troops appeared, and since then affairs have progressed rapidly, until a few days ago a warrant was issued for the arrest of Brigham Young himself for the violation of polygamy laws of Utah, and for murder. It was at first surmised that the officers would be resisted, but no opposition was made. Besides Brigham several prominent members of his church are indicted under the polygamy laws, and Judge McKean of the U. S. District Court had distinguished himself by his fearless remarks to the jury, and by his sweeping interpretations of the law as it applies to Mormon institutions. It has long been foreseen that the day of reckoning was at hand for the Latter Day Saints, and apparently it is now very near. It may be satisfactory to our readers to know that the United States troops at Salt Lake have been strongly reinforced.
